Around the World

By the Associated Press

It's A Small World.

PHILADELPHIA—It's a small world to some people but to William Shambers, well—

In 47 years as a railroad engineer, he traveled thousands of miles but never left the city limits.

"The farthest I ever got," he remarked with a smile as he retired from his job, "was shunting cars down to League Island."

Now, what's he going to do with his spare time? Travel, he says.

Snow Joke.

NEW YORK—"What do you do for a living?" Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio asked Warren Bergen, 17, in court on a peeping-tom charge.

"I work on the snow."

"When do you work?"

"When it snows, I work."

"Well, said the magistrate as he convicted Bergen, "the weather here seems to leave you entirely too much leisure. You'd better move farther north."

Find The Woman.

SPOKANE—Mrs. Joe Ryan lost her wedding ring down a drain five years ago. The city sewer department hunted but couldn't find it.

A sewer worker found the ring recently, but now the department can't find Mrs. Ryan.

Seein's Believin'.

DENVER—Glenn Pasco went on the road gang to convince his wife he held up Mrs. Emelia Prettis, tavern operator, with an unloaded gun and took $1. He took his wife to the tavern to point out Mrs. Prettis, and his victim recognized him.

He was arrested and pleaded guilty.

Finders Keepers.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.— Found: One trailer.

That was the advertisement W. H. Busse, Jr., inserted in a newspaper. He said the two-wheeled vehicle broke loose from its tow car and rolled into the path of his machine. He and other motorists pulled it to the roadside and waited for the owner's return. No one claimed it.

Local Fire Chief Painfully Burned

Joe Brown, local fire chief, was painfully burned about the face and neck while fighting the blaze which consumed the Ed Newby residence, southeast of here Monday afternoon.

A shower of burning lath and plaster fell on Chief Brown while he was in the burning building.

Three firemen and a truck from the local department assisted in preventing the flames from spreading to adjacent buildings although the house, which was located on the Jess Kennedy farm, was destroyed.

The local chief and Firemen Bryan Carr and Chalon Jones also suffered from the intense cold while returning from the fire.

Well, I'll Tell You—

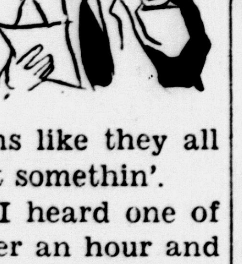
By BOB BURNS



I suppose Los Angeles has more soap-box orators than any other city of its size in the country. Every evening they gather in a square down town and each one of 'em seems to have the solution to all the world's problems. It seems like they all want 'a stamp out somethin'.

The other day I heard one of 'em talkin' for over an hour and the only one that listened to him was an old man. Finally the orator looked down and he says "Brother, are you with me to stamp out this political evil?" The old man says "No, I ain't interested."

The orator says "Well, then why have you stood there all this time?" and the old man says "Well, Brother, I'm a stranger in town and I jest got a little lonesome."

SPOTLIGHT

TO RADIO audience went Morris Ernst (above), CIO counsel, in broadcast reply to Mayor Frank Hague whose administration of Jersey City Ernst termed "a national scandal."

'FOOD, FOOD' is cry of Chinese war babies, crowding Shanghai relief centers.

HUSBAND NO. 5 for Ganna Walska (above), singer once wed to Harold McCormick, is Harry Grindell-Matthews, inventor. After London ceremony, bridegroom couldn't spare time for honeymoon.

DIMPLED Richard Greene, 22, signs Hollywood contract for Talent Scout Robert Low who hopes the Briton will "out-Taylor" Robert Taylor.

Oratorical Contest Elimination Held

Junior Holbrook was named winner in the local elimination of the annual Wabash college oratorical contest held Monday afternoon at the high school building.

Other contestants were Lowell Ruby, Robert Frazee and Edward Cooning. Holbrook's oration was "Kindergartens of Crime." Phases of war danger were discussed by the other three in the elimination. Supt. L. A. Lockwood acted as judge.

Holbrook will represent the local high school in the finals to be held at Wabash college, Crawfordsville, on February 11.

THREE CANDIDATES FILE FOR TRUSTEES

Three candidates for township trustee positions announced themselves here today.

Richard Phillips has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for trustee of Rushville township.

Phillips, who operates the Philips Fruit market here, is a native of Orange but has resided in Rushville for the past six years. He states that he has been a Republican all of his life.

John B. Tonyes, Anderson township farmer, has declared his intentions of being a candidate for the Republican nomination of Anderson township trustee. Tonyes states that he is a lifelong resident of Anderson township and is a member of the Methodist church.

Clarence W. Northam, present trustee of Posey township, has announced that he will seek the office again and will be a candidate in the Republican primary in May.

WINDSHIELD GADGET LAW IS IN COURT

Indianapolis, Feb. 1 (AP)—A suit seeking to void the state's contract for purchase of automobile windshield title holders, retailed to motorists at 25 cents each, was on file today.

T. Ernest Maholm, Indianapolis attorney who brought the action, said the state bought the holders from the N. Shure & Co. of Chicago, at 13 cents each. Contending the 1937 law requiring the holders is unconstitutional, Maholm asserted the Bureau of Motor Vehicles "never has existed legally" and therefore, can not contract for purchase of the windshield gadgets."

Maholm lost last week in an effort to enjoin state officials from enforcing the act. He asked dismissal in circuit court of his suit for a temporary injunction when the state's attorneys pointed out enforcement had been put off until March 1 and Judge Earl R. Cox indicated a temporary order would require a showing of immediate urgency.

Maholm's second suit was filed in Superior Court yesterday.

GROW THRIFTY PIGS GROUP WILL MEET

J. W. Schwab, swine extension specialist of Purdue university, will meet with the county Grow Thrifty Pigs committee in the extension office at the court house Thursday evening at 7:30.

At this meeting the group will plan the year's program which will include plans for the hog school here February 24.

The G.T.P. committee, which is composed of one man from each township, is as follows: Glen Kirkham, Center; Louis Berkemier, Jackson; Fred Goddard, Richland; Merle Piper, Orange; Roy Swain, Posey; Donald Stoten, Ripley; Gail McBride, Rushville; John Looney, Union; Lowell Norris, Walker; Howard Kehl, Washington; Edward Frazee, Noble; Lowell Innis, Anderson.

Fathers And Sons To Meet Thursday

Andersonville United Brethren church will sponsor a Father and Son banquet to be given Thursday night at the Masonic hall in Andersonville. Serving will start at six o'clock and short round table talks will be made by Elmer Linville and Ed Fey.

The program will be held in the church after the banquet. E. J. Rood of Indianapolis will give the address on "Bring Out the Best in Boys." Special music will be furnished by Richard Stevens and Paul Griner and Frank Boyd Keal.

The affair will be just for fathers and sons.

New Salem Community Pays Honor To Basketball Team

New Salem honored her county basketball champion Eagles at a community dinner in the school building there Monday night.

The event was sponsored by the New Salem Parent-Teacher Association and received the cooperation of the entire community.

Throngs of Eagle school patrons, basketball fans, friends and guests crowded into the spacious New Salem school building to honor the team which upset all the dope by winning the annual county net tournament ten days ago.

It was a pitch in—(no, a cooperative dinner, as Principal Ary Skillman explained) and was served in cafeteria style which caused those in attendance several moments of indecision in attempting to choose just what they wanted from the mountains of various and delicious foods.

Coach Emerson Headlee, his ten Eagles and Miss June Dolan, the team's yell leader, were seated at the center table which was adorned by the tournament championship trophy.

Parents of the players, members of the New Salem school faculty, Trustee Will McKee and

Liquid Oxygen Is Demonstrated To Local Rotarians

Interesting demonstrations with liquid oxygen by R. D. Myers, of the Indiana Oxygen Company, held the close attention of Rushville Rotarians at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday noon. Because of another meeting the the Masonic Temple, the dinner and program were held in the Lollis Coffee Shop.

In the absence of Hugh E. Mauzy, who had made arrangements for the program, Secretary Dudley Campbell introduced the visitors from the oxygen company. On behalf of the club, Mr. Campbell also presented awards to winners of the Rotary oratorical contest held last week in Rushville high school. Don Endicott received three dollars as winner of first place; Paul Davison Jr. was presented with a check for two dollars, second prize; and Lowell Ruby received one dollar for third place.

Liquid oxygen, with a temperature of 315 degrees below zero, is 192 times colder than ice, Mr. Myers explained, and this extreme cold will destroy tissue the same as intense heat.

A gold fish was frozen stiff in a few seconds, and created quite a stir and a lot of steam when returned to its bowl, but apparently suffered no ill effects from the adventure. It was stated that fish, frogs and eels survive a plunge into liquid oxygen, although if the eel is dropped, as has happened, and is broken into many fragments, the experiment is the last one for that particular eel.

An egg was "fried," weiners were roasted, mercury was made into a hammer to drive a nail through an inch board, balloons were inflated, and questions answered during the unique demonstration.

Dr. Donald Dean was introduced as a new member of the

SCOUT WEEK TO BE SET ASIDE FEBRUARY 6-12

Committees Are Named and Plans Made for Extensive Observance of Week Here Next Week.

Preliminary preparations were made at a meeting last night for local observance of National Scout Week, February 6-12. The proposed program, outlined by Pat Collyer in behalf of the local Scoutmasters, was approved by the Rushville executive committee.

It was decided that Scout Week would officially make its debut Sunday, February 6, with a city-wide observance of Scout Sunday. Sermons and programs in churches sponsoring Scout troops will be given over to subjects pertaining to Scouting and boyhood. Scouts also will take an active part in the day's programs.

Each morning during Scout Week, Scouts will raise the flag at the postoffice, a bugler and crack flag team to perform the ceremony. The flag will be lowered in the evening by the same team.

The entire week will be devoted to an emphasis of Scout work and Scout activities, each troop playing a definite part in the make-up of the programs.

On Monday evening a chili supper will be sponsored at the Main Street Christian church for all Scouts of city troops, Scoutmasters, assistant Scoutmasters, and committeemen.

Tuesday is designated as Scout Administration Day, when Scouts of the various troops will take over offices in the court house and city posts, including judge, mayor, council, sheriff, police chief, fire chief, coroner, etc. If possible a mock trial will be held with an alleged criminal being tried by Scout court. An inspection of the state police barracks may also be arranged during the day.

Since Tuesday is the birthday of Scouting, troop members also will assist in the Kiwanis and Rotary programs for the day, according to plans.

On Wednesday night there will be the quarterly Court of Honor at the United Presbyterian church. At this meeting all Scouts having completed requirements will receive recognition

Lone Member Can Now Hold Charter For G. A. R. Ranks

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—One man, a single lonely old soldier, can now constitute a chapter of the Grand Army of the Republic, so rapidly is time thinning the ranks of the "Boys in Blue."

A new rule reducing from five to one the number of members required for a unit was promulgated yesterday by G. A. R. National Commander Overton H. Mennet of Los Angeles.

While announcing that the original 2,500,000 Union soldiers in the Civil War have dwindled to 6,000 and are dying at the rate of 150 a month, the 92-year-old veteran indicated his comrades still can be belligerent.

He said the proposed reunion of the Blue and Gray at Gettysburg, Pa., this summer on the 75th anniversary of the decisive battle there may be scuttled because the Pennsylvania Commission arranging the event will not give assurance that Confederate flags will be left at home.

OVER $50 RAISED IN MILK CAMPAIGN

The first day of the Milk Fund campaign opened with several nice contributions totalling $53.50 and starting the first step toward a goal of $500. This drive is under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's club.

Persons wishing to make contributions to this fund may leave them at the Havens-Adams store or Republican-Telegram office. Checks are made payable to Miss Anna Bohannon, treasurer of the Woman's Council which takes care of the milk distributions during the year.

During the past month the Council paid a bill of $189.73 for milk given to school children and twenty-one families. Of this amount for January $146.33 was for school children with $42.85 being paid for by students. A reduction of two per cent was given by the dairy which brought the amount to $143.41. The other $46.32 worth of milk was distributed to families in the city. Therefore the draw on the fund was $146.88 which is about one third of the set goal.

At the rate of the first month in the year, $500 will be small enough to carry the coming year through. Other contributions are given to the Council during the year to assist in this project and these with the money raised during the two weeks' drive have been sufficient in the past years.

First contributions are as follows:

GOV. CHANDLER WILL CAMPAIGN AGAINST ROOSEVELT'S MAN

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Governor A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky accepted today the challenge of Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democratic floor leader, to a political battle.

"If I read the signs aright," Chandler said, "the people of Kentucky will retire Barkley at the next election.

"He is going to have an opponent—strong opposition—in the campaign," added the governor, who said he would not announce until his return home whether he himself would seek the senatorial nomination.

The public break between the governor and Barkley, President Roosevelt's lieutenant in the senate, created at stir from the White House to Capitol Hill.

Chandler called on Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. Later two anti-Chandler Kentuckians, John Young Brown and Thomas S. Rhea, visited the White House. When they left, they declared the president had left no doubt that he favored Barkley's reelection.

Then Barkley issued a formal statement saying:

"For months I have been threatened from Frankfort (capital of Kentucky) with opposition in my race for reelection unless I entered into a conspiracy which would have involved Senator Logan, the president of the United States, and me, to find some way to eliminate Senator Logan from the senate by appointing him to something else. . ."

A vacancy exists on the sixth federal circuit court, which serves Kentucky. There had been talk that Logan might be appointed and that Chandler then might succeed him in the senate.

Logan, declared, however, that he would not accept the appointment if it were offered and that he would support Barkley for reelection.

"I have never requested Senator Barkley, Senator Logan or the president to do anything for me," retorted Chandler.

SINKING OF BRITISH SHIP ADDS FIRE TO WAR CRISIS THAT IS GRIPPING EUROPE

BLAMES ITALY FOR SINKING BRITISH SHIP

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Spanish government today charged Italy had assigned four destroyers and two submarines to the Spanish insurgent fleet and that an Italian submarine sank the British Merchantman Endymion off Spain's southeast coast with a loss of eleven lives.

The British admiralty rushed four destroyers armed with depth charges to the Mediterranean area where the coal-laden freighter was torpedoed.

Pablo de Azcarate Y. Florez, Spanish government ambassador, accused Italy in a note handed to the British foreign office.

The Spanish government, he declared in another communique, is "amazed" that "foreign intervention in Spain is permitted to such an extent as to allow the rebels (insurgents) to receive whole, important units of a foreign fleet."

Azcarate Y. Florez denied that the insurgents have submarines of their own and declared "it must be clear to the whole world"

Spain's Civil War Extends to Mediterranean Again While Chinese and Japanese Conflict Still Rages.

ENTIRE EUROPE FACES CRITICAL CRISIS, REPORT

By the Associated Press

Warfare, continuing on the widely separated battlefields of Spain and China, spread to the seas and today confronted Europe with a new crisis.

Spain's civil war again extended to Mediterranean sea lanes, reviving the danger-laden problem of confining the conflict to Spain. A British merchantman, torpedoed, went down with the loss of eleven lives. The Spanish government blamed insurgents for the sinking.

In the orient Japanese and Chinese armies battled for the corridor separating the areas Japan has conquered in nearly seven months of undeclared warfare.

Force became an issue even in councils of peace.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russia's foreign commisar, warned the League of Nations that "without coercive measures" it "cannot retain its being."

His reference was to action by representatives of small nations yesterday against obligatory sanctions.

Great Britain rushed four destroyers armed with depth charges to find the submarine which sank the 887-ton Endymion off Spain's southeast coast Sunday.

Under the Nyon "anti-piracy" accord of September, 1937, which prescribed that any such submarines be "counter attacked and if possible destroyed," European powers had curbed an outbreak of submarine attacks on the Mediterranean last summer.

Conflicting Chinese and Japanese reports of the battle along the southern border of the 190-mile-wide corridor in North China said heavy toll had been taken of enemy lives.

Near Mingkwang, about 230 miles northwest of Nanking on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, Chinese told of hurling back Japanese after repeated bayonet charges.

Japanese, however, said they had pushed Chinese northward toward Pengpu, next objective in

SMALL BUSINESS MEN TO CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

Eight Hundred Representatives from Small Concerns Will Give Their Views on Present Trends.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Eight hundred representatives of the nation's small business men, gathering tomorrow to formulate suggestions for President Roosevelt, will report that their most urgent need is a source of new capital.

Ernest G. Draper, assistant Secretary of Commerce, said today that topic was the theme of hundreds of letters sent to administration officials from all over the country.

The best banking brains in the government, Secretary Morgenthau commented, have been studying the question for years but have not solved it.

The small business men put unemployment as the second most vital question they will discuss in an open meeting at the Commerce Department before sending a delegation to the White House.

Unemployment, however, headed the discussion list of a group of United Automobile Workers' officials calling on Mr. Roosevelt today.

Two Farm Meets Listed This Week

Two township farm bureau meetings will be held in Rush county this week.

The Walker township bureau will meet at the Homer school Wednesday evening. The program will include a creamery talk by Robert Sutton and an illustrated travelogue of a western trip by Arthur Barnett.

The Union township bureau will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Ging school. Robert Sutton will have charge of a creamery program and a talk will be given by Mr. Rycker. Arthur Weidner will discuss a baby chick program. Special numbers will include a tap dance by Helen McKee, accompanied by Carl Smith, and piano selections by Luadah Gordon.

MAN BORN HERE IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Gordon E. Stevens, age 33, native of Rushville, was burned to death when his truck caught fire Monday and he was trapped in the cab when it was in collision with another car on road 9 north of Marion.

Stevens resided at 626 North LaSalle street, Indianapolis, and was employed as a salesman for the Max Katz Bag company. The car that ran into the truck was driven by Elmer E. Ball of Michigan, who also died in the wreckage. His wife was seriously injured.

Mr. Stevens was born 33 years ago in the old Grand Hotel in Rushville, and was abandoned by his mother, who was unknown. At that time Marsh Stevens was mayor of Rushville and he and his wife took charge of the baby and adopted him, giving him the name of George Stevens. Both the former mayor and his wife are deceased.

The Stevens family moved to Indianapolis years ago and the young man graduated from Shortridge high school and in 1927 was married to LaVoren Leeke of Indianapolis, who is among the survivors. He was a member of the Central Avenue M. E. church in that city. Funeral arrangements were not learned.

THE GOAL RUSH

By KEN RUSH

They who make up the game:

THE COACHES: Carmel's victory in the recent Hamilton county tournament was a nice anniversary present for Edgar Cotton, the team's coach for ten year . . . Entry of Burris of Muncie into the Central Indiana prep conference would put two brother coaches in the league. Scott Fisher, Burris mentor, is a brother of Coach Walter Fisher of Warsaw . . . A mid-season change at Greenfield advanced Clyde Sutton from assistant to coach after Russell Bratton, there five years, asked to be relieved so he might return to teaching . . . And David Barrow has left Nineveh in Johnson county to become a teacher at Anderson high . . . Coach George Boots of Columbus, bent on getting good officials, says he's now booking arbiters for 1940 . . .

THE I. H. S. A. A.: A new ruling this year requires that all seats for regional tournaments be reserved . . . Several schools entertaining March tournaments have warned merchants of their cities against advertising in tourney programs as a result of a notation in the recent association bulletin saying: "Souvenir programs other than I. H. S. A. A. shall not be distributed or sold at any tournament, and no solicitation of advertisement shall be made" . . . Bask-o-lites, which sprang up last season, have been seen in few schools this year, and those few are taking them down for the last month of pre-tournament play. The state association doesn't permit the contraptions in tournament play . . .

THE PLAYERS: When a question arose whether he was over the 20-year age limit, Kenneth Keener, star guard for Pierceton, the team that beat Warsaw and then won the Kosciusko county tourney, dug up his birth certificate to prove he was still eligible . . . John Lynch, elected captain of the Frankfort team recently, moved to the Hot Dog town from Greencastle two years ago . . . New Castle, beaten all those times, hasn't a single senior on the squad. Two juniors, seven sophomores, and a freshman are on the first string roster . . . Long and Short, once teammates at Franklin high, are playing independent ball now . . . The name "Apple" appears after "Adams" in Mt. Comfort's lineup . . .

THE PRESS: Bloomington's limitation of the long New Albany filibuster was followed by this screaming headline in a Bloomington paper: "Bloomington Rocks Basketball Empire" . . . Marshall Stross of the Crawfordsville Journal-Review was surprised, when someone phoned him the box score of a girls' basketball game at Russellville, to learn the female youngsters of Putnam county high schools have taken up the game seriously. Russellville, Greencastle, Montezuma and Cloverdale play regular schedules . . . Jack Ledden of the South Bend Tribune, after watching LaPorte, said he had seen "the best ball handling high school team northern Indiana has put out in a long time" . . . Gordam Graham of the Lafayette Journal-Courier and Bill Houghland of the Rushville Republican-Telegram have noticed lesser referee-baiting this season . . .

THE EX'S: Ernest Andres and Bill Johnson, Indiana university stars, have been teammates eight years, playing together in junior high and high school at Jeffersonville before starting on their "higher education." They were members of the Jeff team that lost in the championship game to Anderson in 1935 . . . Charles Lutz, formerly of Gary's Horace Mann, is sparkplug of the strong Harvard team as a sophomore . . . Prize score of old, recalls Ed Ogborne of the New Castle Courier-Times, was NC's 112-to-NOTHING victory over Noblesville in 1918 . . . Lee Pence scored 38 field goals for 76 points against the Millers. . .

THE TEAMS: New Albany's most forbidding task of the season encompasses two states this week. The Bulldogs meet their old rival, Jeffersonville, Wednesday and undefeated St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., Saturday . . . Morristown has won the Shelby county tournament three successive years . . . Unlucky thirteen was too much for Holland and Fort Branch, both southern teams, and both lost last week after winning twelve in a row . . . The Lafayette-Delphi game that was scheduled for last week was postponed until Feb. 6 following death of the father of Earl Dose, acting captain in most of Lafayette Jefferson's games this season . . . Dugger, that usually strong Wabash valley team, has the largest township high school in the state . . .

"BATTLE OF CENTURY" LOOMS

With both teams seeking to end a three-game losing streak, Rushville and Connersville will put on the traditional "Battle of the Century" at Memorial gym Friday night. It will not only be a battle between two of the state's oldest rivals but will also be a South Central conference tilt with fifth place in the standing at stake. The Lions copped a 27-25 decision from Connersville on the Spartan court back in December and will be out to show that they can continue their mastery over the Pruittmen in their own bailiwick. Anticipating the season's largest crowd, local school officials will place Wednesday 100 reserved seats for sale at the Pitman-Wilson drug store, these tickets to remain there until Friday evening. A reserved seat for the current Lion-Spartan fracas costs 45 cents with general admission prices being a dime lower.

Hinshaw gave the Lions a rest from active scrimmage Monday night but held chalk-talk sessions. The Red and Black mentor planned to submit George Adams to an X-ray examination today, the Lion veteran having suffered an injured shoulder in the Shortridge game.

HIGGS EXPOUNDS

Defeated in their last three starts, Coach Pruitt's Spartan netters invade Rushville Friday for the last game of the present road trip and expect to give the Lions a hard battle for honors in a South Central loop game. The two teams are tied in the loop race. On the basis of season performance the Spartans should win.

The locals were defeated at Technical Saturday night, 22 to 17.

Trailing at the end of the first half 17 to 6 the Spartans staged a sensational rally in the last half and with only two minutes to play were within two points of Tech, 19 to 17. Holland, Technical forward, and Bailey, forward of the Spartans, mixed it up at this juncture, Bailey fell during a play and Holland jumped on him. The players exchanged a few swings, it was reported, and then order was restored. Both were given free throws which they missed and then both were sent to the showers.

In the last two minutes Technical scored a fielder and a foul to win by a margin of five points.

It was the third defeat in a row for the Pruitt-coached team but in each instance the margin was small. The Spartans are due to get back on the winning track at the expense of the Lions, who have not been setting the world on fire. They were clipped Saturday night by the Shortridge team.

Rushville school officials are making plans to entertain the largest crowd of the season Friday night. The usual big delegation from Connersville will be on hand. Both Connersville teams will play. It will be a big night. — Connersville News-Examiner.

Word From The South

This department is in receipt of an interesting letter from Dick Walls, former local resident, who now resides at McClellanville, S. C.

Apparently the only basketball news filtering through to Mr. and Mrs. Walls is that contained in this newspaper as the hardwood game doesn't have a very strong foothold in McClellanville.

The letter written by Walls, a former Knightstown player, is too long to reproduce in its entirety but we thought a description of the dismal position basketball holds in Dick's city was especially interesting. Here 'tis:

"Basketball in this part of the country is just a lull between football and baseball. In this particular part of South Carolina they would classify a gym as the familiar nomenclature of a guy named James.

"They play out of doors on a freshly limed court of about one half the length of Rushville's court, and its unruffled smoothness is exceeded only by North Main street in Rushville when you are in a hurry.

"I might add that Charleston college, one of the oldest and most exclusive schools around here, had to cancel a game recently because an independent team wanted to practice on the Y. M. C. A. floor on that particular night."

—B—

SHORT SHOTS

New Albany scribes report that Jeffersonville fans are riding Coach Frank Barnes for his failure to give reserve players more game experience. . . . Coach Art Pruitt got so disgusted with his Edinburg regulars in their game with the State Deaf School team that he let his second stringers play the final quarter . . . the scrubs held the opponents much better than the first string did. . . There are two Bobs, two Buds and two Johns on the Milroy team . . . Ed Ogborne of New Castle remarks that the rulemakers evidently haven't any hearts but they ought to remember that athletes have. . . . Webb is the only Rush county school entered in the Greensburg invitational grade tourney February 5 and 12 . . . Webb plays Osgood at 9:50 a. m. this Saturday. . . Colbert, big colored center on last year's North Vernon five, is now playing with a Negro team at Columbus . . . Legs Downing, also an ex-North Vernon player, and Jim Richey, former Columbus player, are on the same team with Colbert. . . . Muncie is now undisputed leader of the North Central conference. . . . Wayne Marshall, sports scribe for The Martinsville Reporter, has been absent from his duties because of an ulcerated tooth . . . The Cincinnati Enquirer showed an action picture taken at the Richmond - Kokomo game and then spoiled everything by referring to the shot as being taken when "Kokomo won from Richmond, 52 - 32" . . . as you all know, Richmond was the winner by this score. . . Little Freetown is unbeaten in 13 games. . . They are giving four-man basketball a tryout in Detroit.

NEW SALEM COMMUNITY PAYS HONOR TO BASKETBALL TEAM

guests also sat at special tables. Basketball trophies won by Eagle teams in the past also graced these tables.

The gymnasium, site of the banquet, was attractively decorated with the Red and Blue colors of New Salem. Miniature candy basketball players were used as favors.

Mrs. Minor Owens, chairman of the Parent-Teacher Association, presided at the after-dinner session and then turned the meeting over to Principal Skillman.

A novel method of introducing the honored guests—the team members—was used.

Along one wall of the gymnasium a line of large placards, each containing one letter, spelled out the name, "County Champs."

As each player was introduced, a placard was turned over and a water-color portrait of each boy was shown. This art work was done by Edward Clark, a New Salem alumnus of 1934 who also was formerly a member of the Eagle team.

Painting each picture from a small photograph previously given him, Mr. Clark was able to reproduce startling likenesses of several of the players.

Russell Angle, New Salem center, was presented with the Kessler medal, an award which he won for his sportsmanlike attitude at the tourney but which was not given him until Monday night.

Short talks were given by the Rev. George Harris, pastor of the Little Flat Rock Christian church; Bob Bokelman, ex-Eagle who is now a junior at Indiana university; and Coach Headlee.

A large part of the musical program consisted of original songs and readings in which the New Salem team was praised. Misses Helen Barber, Julia Carr and Eloise Patton entertained with songs and Betty Lou Geise and Ruth Katherine McHenry with readings. Carl Smith, a New Salem teacher, also favored with a number of songs.

One of the program's features was little Shirley Ann Ricketts, age 7, who pleasingly played two accordion numbers.

Following an address by Milt Gardner, Rush county humorist, who entertained the crowd with a mock campaign speech, the program was closed with the cutting of the victory cake.

Business Men Are Told To 'Holler' Real Loud

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A delegation of "little business" men, advised by one of its members to "holler like hell" in Washington, will leave today to confer with President Roosevelt.

A preliminary session of some 90 of the 118 men summoned to the capital from the New York area indicated yesterday that the group can holler at least that loud, and perhaps louder.

Their yelling—mostly directed at each other—lasted so long that the drafting of a program for presentation to the president was postponed until the delegation boards its train today.

After the tumult and the shouting died, Charles Courtney, a master locksmith who boasts he never has been baffled by a lock but was baffled more than once by his noisy colleagues, emerged as chairman of a committee of 20 to represent the group.

His contention, as stated at the meeting, is: "Us little fellows have been neglected terribly."

It was another member of the committee, Henry Sachs, clothing manufacturer, who exhorted, the "little men" to "punch and punch hard. Holler like hell."

Robert Kaempfer, who received an invitation to the conference though he has had no business for a year, was denied a place on the committee. He contended the unemployed should be represented.

When credit is easy to get, there is a mad rush to buy.

Wrestling Team Works Out At Rushville High School

(By Special Reporter)

We dropped in at the gym one day last week to watch basketball practice, and while watching the boys go through their paces, noticed that the curtains on the stage were drawn, and as we heard some grunts and groans coming from behind those curtains, decided to investigate.

When we looked behind the curtains, we saw a tangled mess of arms and legs threshing around on some mats spread out on the floor, and several boys around the edges watching the muscle-factory at work. Looking for someone in authority we found Louis Darst, with a time-clock in one hand, and an arnica bottle in the other, watching his proteges go through their paces. Asking him what sort of activity was going on, he informed us that it was the high school wrestling team taking their daily workout.

Upon questioning him further, we found out that since the close of the football season a number of boys who are interested in wrestling having been working out in preparation for the State High School Wrestling Tournament, which is held at Indiana university each year. They also plan to have one or two meets prior to the state meet, but due to the fact that the local school has no facilities for a regular meet, will not have any of these at home. The first meeting scheduled is this coming Thursday, February third, when the boys journey to Southport to take on the strong Cardinal grapplers.

Due to the fact that none of the boys have even seen an amateur meet, much less wrestled in one, Coach Darst is not predicting a victory for the Lions, but he does have two or three boys whom he thinks will give Coach Pitcher's men plenty of trouble.

The boys who have been working hardest, and a majority of whom will probably make the trip, are Sizemore, Waite, Johnson, Hartzler, Thatcher, Davidson, Bromegan, Deikman, Barnett, Ward, and Morgan. These boys have been putting in considerable time and effort, and have been keeping their workouts more or less secret until they now feel that they know enough about the game and have enough fire stored up inside of them, that they need some competition. Walter "Buster" Keaton, local attorney, and former Indiana university grappler, has been coming up two or three evenings each week and working out with the boys, and says that some of them are giving him plenty of trouble, especially since he has not been in training since last spring.

Coach Darst asked me to stress the fact that high school wrestling is not the brutal side-show that we see in the news-reels, professional bouts, and carnivals, but is a clean, hard-fought sport, with the disagreeable and dangerous holds eliminated, and is a true body-builder, rather than injurious to the boys. This will probably relieve many parents, who have probably pictured their boys being drawn and quartered, stretched on the rack ,and subjected to innumerable punishing holds.

In what probably will be the closest match of the year, Todds defeated Kiwanis 2 games to one.

—S.—S.—

Todds rolled with 3 men again but that didn't bother them against the Kiwanis and they won the first two games by the close margin of 3 pins each on 771, 742 and then to be sociable they dropped the third by 1 pin on 810. The match failed to show any big scoring but was as exciting as any could be. Of the 3 present, H. Kelley was high on 485.

—S.—S.—

The Kiwanis team on games of 768, 739, 811 were lucky to win one and won't win any series until they learn to make spares. They likewise failed to show much in scoring except C. Myers who was the only one over 500 on 518.

—S.—S.—

On the second shift Mauzys defeateed I. G. A., also 2 to 1.

—S.—S.—

Starting slow on a putrid 750, Mauzys went better with each game as the I. G. A.'s got worse and hit 846 and 939 to win the last 2 games and series easily and stay in the battle for first place. With the year's largest gallery very partisan, Mauzys couldn't get started the first game and looked like dubs but they really rolled the third game to remove all doubt. Leading the scoring was R. Bridenstein on 619 from 204, 257 followed by M. L. Alexander on a nice 510.

—S.—S.—

The I. G. A. team after winning the first game on 778 couldn't stand prosperity and after losing on 801, faded to 789 to lose all chance and fell in the league standing. Their big and only scorer was J. Mullins on a fine 548 from 214.

State Workers Out If Seeking Offices

Indianapolis, Jan. 31 (AP)—State employes can not seek a "remunerative public office" and remain on the payroll, Governor Townsend decided today.

The decree left to the discretion of department heads "whether the candidate shall be given a leave of absence without pay or be asked to resign from his position."

Observers pointed out ruling would permit employes to hold office in the regular party organization and also to run for delegate jobs at the Democratic state convention.

Another loop hole, they said, would permit incumbent state officials to seek renomination at the state convention.

Japanese Apology Accepted By U. S.

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The United States accepted today Japan's expressions of regret for the slapping last Wednesday at Nanking of John M. Allison, the third secretary in charge of the embassy there, by a Japanese sentry.

The State Department, making this announcement, made public a report from Allison which said the Japanese planned to court martial the commanding officer and 20 men of the unit involved in the incident.

BLAMES ITALY FOR SINKING BRITISH SHIP

that the Endymion's attacker was Italian.

The British patrol destroyers, each of 1375 tons, were under orders without hesitation to drop depth charges if the attacking submarines were sighted and attempted to resist capture.

The Nyon accord against "piracy," signed last Sept. 14, established that any such submarines be "counter attacked and if possible destroyed."

The destroyer Flotilla centered its patrol about the Cape Tinoso area, where the Endymion sank following the submarine attack, which possibly signalled a general recurrence of such socalled "piratical attacks" which disrupted Mediterranean merchant shipping the summer of 1937.

Three of the dead aboard the Endymion were British and one was a Swede, Charles M. Larsson, official of the European non-interventionin-Spain committee.

A Spanish government communique attributed the torpedoing of the 887-ton ship to insurgents. The Endymion, sunk Sunday, was carrying a cargo of coal for Cartagena and left Gibraltar Saturday.

The learching destroyers were the Fortune, Fire Drake, Dury and Forester. They are among the most modern of the entire British Mediterranean patrol which naval sources forecast would be strengthened speedily "if this sort of things continues."

The patrol was relaxed late in 1937, these circles disclosed, because of more normal conditions in the sea.

More than 25 British ships have been attacked by sea or from the air in the year and a half of civil war but the latest resulted in the heavies casualties thus far.

NATION'S TOLL IN ACCIDENTAL DEATHS IS HIGH

Total of 106,000 Persons Is Killed in Accidents Last Year; Traffic Deaths Almost 40,000.

Chicago, Feb. 1 (AP)—Accidental deaths cost the nation 106,000 lives in 1937, the National Safety Council computed today, including an annual all time high of 39,700 in the traffic field.

The permanently injured were estimated at 375,000, temporarily injured at 9,400,000.

This "gruesome jamboree of carelessness," the Council said, ran up a bill of $3,700,000,000.

It was broken down into $2,550,000,000 in wage loss and medical expense, $870,000,000 for property damage in traffic accidents and $285,000,000 property loss in fires.

Despite a 4 per cent drop from 1936 in total deaths, the toll was higher than for any preceding year. Council statisticians attributed the decrease largely to a mild summer which reduced heat deaths by approximately 4,500.

An "encouraging phase" was a sharp decline in the child accident death rate. It plunged 13 per cent for children under 15, from 16,200 deaths in 1936 to 14,000. Adult accidental deaths decreased 3 per cent.

Major disasters had little effect on the grand total. Notable, however, were the schoolhouse explosion ni New London, Texas., in March, which claimed 294 lives, and the Hindenburg dirigible explosion, in which 35 passengers were lost.

Traffic deaths increased by 1,600, or 4 per cent, over the Council's figure but it was explained in part by a 9 per cent increase in motor travel.

The 1937 traffic death rate per 100,000 population was 30.7 compared with 29.7. The rate was 62 per cent higher than 1925 and 30 per cent higher than 1933.

Traffic accident costs to the nation were estimated at $1,740,000,000—fairly evenly divided between property damage on one hand and wage losses, medical expenes and insurance overhead costs—as against $1,640,000,000 in 1936.

Milwaukee, which in 1936 shared first honors with New York in cities of more than 500,000 population, took undisputed top ranking in its class with a vehicle traffic death rate of 10.8 per 100,000.

New York finished second, with 12.4, and Boston third, with 14.5. Beverly, Mass. ,population 25,500 was the largest city which had no traffic deaths last year.

Falls, as usual accounted for more accidental deaths than any other cause except traffic—approximtely 26,000.

Burns caused 8,000 fatalities, drowning 7,000, railroad accidents (not motor vehicle) 4,000, firearms, 3,000, gas poison, 2,000, other poisons, 2,000 and miscellaneous causes, 15,000.

Gov't Attorney Raps Police In Shooting Affair

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—A government attorney, suffering from a bullet wound in the hip, charged the police of Alexandria, Va., today with "dragging a red herring into the case to cloak their own stupidity."

Russell Hardy, 44, special assistant to the Attorney General, was shot Saturday night by an unidentified man, police said, while sitting in his parked car in front of an Alexandria hotel.

Resting in a Washington hospital, Hardy described his assailant as a panhandler who shot in rage because he was refused money.

Sergeant G. F. Everly of Alexandria said Hardy told him he was in the company of a woman lawyer from New York just before the shooting, but refused to name her. It was mention of her that Hardy termed "a red herring."

The woman did not realize Hardy had been shot, he was quoted by Everly, and left to catch a New York train when Hardy told her the car would not start.

Hardy's wife was with him at the hospital after the attack.

Alexandria officials placed the injured man under $500 bond as a material witness. Hardy declared he was being treated "as a defendant instead of a complaining witness."

McNutt Will Meet Friends At Reception Following Banquet

Indianapolis, Jan. 31 (AP) — A governor's office aid said today Paul V. McNutt, high commissione to the Philippines, had been delayed for the second time in his trip to the United States next month.

Former Governor McNutt will arrive here Feb. 16 three days before the Democratic editorial association banquet at which he is to be principal speaker.

Indianapolis, Feb. 1—High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt of the Philippine Islands will greet and shake hands with his many friends at a public reception at the close of the speaking program of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association on Saturday night, Feb 19, General Chairman Frank E. Finney, has announced.

Finney said that the reception would be held in the Chateau room of the Claypool hotel and would give all at the banquet a chance to speak to the former Governor.

Dancing has been arranged from 10:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. Finney has engaged Bill Schumacher's nine-piece orchestra to play. During the serving of the courses eight singers and musicians will pass among the tables and entertain.

Dick Heller, chairman of the radio committee, announced that Radio Station WIRE will broadcast program beginning at 9 o'clock. It is expected that the radio audience will hear the High Commissioner, Governor Townsend and Senators Frederick Van Nuys and Sherman Minton—the four principal speakers. Congressman Arthur H. Greenwood will appear in behalf of the 11 Democratic Congressmen.

Tickets are now on sale at the Democratic State Committee headquarters and The Hoosier Sentinel, both in the Claypool hotel. Only 2,300, the capacity of the Claypool, will be sold.

No seats are to be reserved, according to Finney. First there will get first choice of seats when the doors are opened at 6:30 p. m.

TENURE ACT UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)— The United States supreme court indicated Monday in 7 to 1 decision Dorothy Anderson of Wabash county, Ind., could compel Chester township to reinstate her as a teacher.

The Indiana supreme court had held Miss Anderson had no vested right in her teacher's contract. She contended the 1927 state teacher's act gave her an indefinite contract because she had taught five years. The township took the position the 1933 teacher's tenure act repealed the 1927 statute.

Floyd I. McMurray, Indiana superintendent of public instruction, said Tuesday "several hundred" Indiana school teachers would be affected.

Action of the United States Supreme Court in the teacher tenure matter upheld, in effect, a decision handed down in Rush circuit court a few years ago.

At that time a verdict was given the plaintiff by Judge John A. Titsworth, on the local bench then, in the case of Wright against the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Children's Home. Wright, ousted as a teacher at the state institution in Center township, had sued for salary under the tenure act.

The local court found in Wright's favor, but, on appeal, the state supreme court reversed Judge Titsworth's decision. The former local jurist said today that the same principal was involved in the case tried here as in that in which the high government tribunal reversed the Indiana Supreme Court.

Wright's Funeral Home
Rushville, Indiana

Dear friends:

There is an apparent widespread lack of information about funeral costs. May we explain again that the cost depends entirely upon the tastes and desires of the family.

It need not be high. In fact, we earnestly advise against the purchase of funeral merchandise that might prove burdensome. And whatever the selection might be, our complete facilities and service are included.

Respectfully,
Sherman L. Wright

HE SELLS TOBACCO TO THEM ALL
But Branch Bobbitt, like so many other independent experts, prefers Luckies...

"AT AUCTIONS in my warehouse in Farmville, North Carolina," says Mr. Branch Bobbitt, "Lucky Strike buyers know what tobacco they want and they'll keep bidding right up until they get it.

"Well—in a cigarette—it's the tobacco that counts. I know tobacco and I know what tobacco is in what cigarettes. So that's one reason I've smoked Luckies for over five years now."

Many other experts agree with Mr. Bobbitt. Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO? When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Toasting" Process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS

The Department of Agriculture expects that when the figure for December is available it will show that total farm income for that month amounted to $696,000,000. This means that the annual farm income in 1937 amounted to $8,500,000,000, or $500,000,000 less than the amount forecasted by the Department of Agriculture last summer. This helps to explain the sharp slump in industrial activity during the latter part of 1937, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute. Industrial activity early in the year was keyed up to a rate which required the support of even more inflation than that indicated by last summer's prospect of a $9,000,000,000 farm income in 1937.

The figures are especially interesting owing to the light they throw on the "recession" which we are now going through. Business was undoubtedly keyed up early in 1937 to expect more inflation. There was every indication that prices were going higher and higher. Part of this inflationary expectation was undoubtedly due to the belief that farm prices were going to continue to rise. But there were expectations of inflation all along the line. The government was continuing to "prime the pump" and everything looked encouraging from the short term prospect. Then something happened. The cost of living rose faster than incomes and farm prices began to drop. There were predictions of a curtailment in "pump priming" and a move toward the balancing of the budget. Then came the "recession."

The way things have happened gives more weight to the view that only a part of our recovery from the 1933 lows has been healthful. Some of it has undoubtedly been based on governmental "pump priming," an unbalanced budget and a continuing expectation of greater inflation. If this process were to continue there is little doubt that sooner or later we would be courting real disaster through uncontrolled inflation which quickly destroys everybody except the market manipulators.

It is barely possible therefore that some good may come out of the "recession." This is especially true if it sobers us into a realization that after all the time-tried, sound economic policies are the only ones which will lead us out of the wilderness.

AERIAL PROPAGANDA

Having already made arrangements to broadcast in Arabic in Africa and Asia to combat alleged propaganda of the Italians there, said to be inimical to British trade and political interests, John Bull, through the British Broadcasting Company, is now about to construct a foreign language station for broadcasting to South American countries. When this tower is completed, the British will be able to propagandize by radio all over the world. The South American broadcasts are to be conducted in Spanish and Portuguese.

Against whom the propaganda broadcasting is to be directed is not stated in the Associated Press dispatch from London describing the new program. It is known that there are growing colonies of Italians and Germans in Brazil and other South American countries and it is possible that these will figure to some extent in the broadcasting plans.

It is a noteworthy fact, however, that up to recently, practically all European propaganda from Europe — Britain, France, Italy, Germany and other countries — had one thing in common — belittling the United States, its motives and its aims. A great many of the charges of South American imperialism, launched against Uncle Sam in the past, have had European inspiration.

Many of our Americans who have traveled in South America have been amazed and angered by the stream of anti-American propaganda there, appearing in a large way in press dispatches from London, Paris and other European centers.

This propaganda has not been based on any special dislike toward Americans. Its purposes have been to create suspicion and animosity as to our motives and aims in South America, for the purpose of diverting Central and South American trade dollars from the United States to Europe. The purposes behind the propaganda have been almost purely commercial. The direction and motives of the new British radio propaganda in South America will be interesting in view of what has been happening in the past. Perhaps there is going to be a propaganda war between rival European nations. If so, maybe they will let Uncle Sam alone for awhile.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEMAY

SYNOPSIS: A boil-up of savage Dyak tribes makes the tropical waters of Balingong bay an unhealthy spot. Our trading vessel, the Linkang, is strongly fortified, but the Forrester's Avon is defenseless. It is a strange place to find an English girl of 20, and my uncle, James Clyde, is trying to persuade Christine, and her brother Robert, to leave. Cool and serene, Christine insists that they know what they're doing.

CHAPTER THREE

The Immovable Object

"I think you are sincere, Captain Clyde," Christine Forrester said. "But I was surprised to hear you speak of warships, and law. I don't think, from what I've heard of you, that you care very much for either one. I thought at first that you wanted to get rid of us merely because we were embarrassing your plans."

"That's nonsense," James Clyde said shortly. "What cuts into my plans is this Dyak revolt. I never in my life knew so many Dyak tribes to get together in one far before. There are praus here from every river on this side of Sumantang, from the Mukunjan to the Tomarrup."

"And farther than that," Christine Forrester murmured.

He shot her an estimating glance. "I admit I came here with a purpose," he said. "But that's been spoiled by the picnic party ashore. Neither you nor I nor anybody else is going to be able to do a nickel's worth of business here. What I am trying to make you see is that you must do just what I'm going to do—give it up—make new plans—get out of here for a while, and wait for this thing to clear up."

"We expect to wait," the girl said. "And we expect to wait here."

I thought Clyde would blow up at this. But he took a deep breath, and swung his exasperated gaze away from the girl and out across the Avon's rail toward Sumantang.

Over there, the gongs were still whanging. The mud-flats of Balingong beach were beginning to show, glistening and deserted. Balingong town you could not see. It was two miles up the sluggish ugly Siderong, whose mouth poured wide from between walls of marsh jungle.

"My bet," Clyde persisted, "is that Balingong is already down. There never was much of a garrison there. The Rajah Mantusen is probably wiped out—if he wasn't, he would have got a messenger to me by now."

"You are speaking of your problems, Captain Clyde; not my own."

It was the first time she had said "my" instead of "our," and he looked at her sharply again.

"In any case," she said, "there is certainly nothing for me anywhere else. I may as well tell you, Captain Clyde, that we are here because we have to be; you may have your choice to go or come, but we have none. I tell you this because I believe your solicitude for us to be real."

"You have canvas and an offshore breeze," Clyde said stubbornly. "That's all it takes to get out."

Old Captain Stocker gave off an incomprehensible humming grunt at that, as if it jarred his fever-sluggish mind to an instant's wakefulness. Robert Forrester, busy holding his attitude of stand-off courtesy, said nothing at all. Neither did the girl.

Dismissal

She was looking straight into Clyde's eyes, cool and self-possessed. Suddenly it seemed to me that she wanted to get rid of us even more keenly than we wished to be rid of her.

"There are some things it takes much more than canvas to change, Captain Clyde," she said presently. "I will tell you this, quite frankly. If we do not succeed here, there is nothing waiting for us in England, nor any place else in the world. It's true that my father was a wealthy man when he left the East India service. But he was not wealthy when he died. He left us very little more that this boat and an uncompleted plan. His plan was carefully studied, and he had put into it every resource he could command. There is nothing for us to do but to try to complete his project if we can."

"I don't know what your father's project was," Clyde said, and his tone—doubtless against his will—implied that whatever it was, he didn't think much of it. "But you'll have to lay it by. Six months from now, or even three, everything here will be different."

"Unhappily, it cannot be postponed."

The irresistible force had met the immovable object, and Clyde was not used to that. He did not always have his own way, any more than anyone else; but what he never could stand was a situation he couldn't get his teeth into at all.

He shot to his feet now, his temper cracking, and shouted at her exactly as if she had been a man. "I tell you, it must!"

Christine Forrester remained aloof, composed, and said nothing.

She simply stood up, and remained standing, making it next to impossible for Clyde to sit down again.

Mystery Of The Avon

Back aboard the Linkang, we went to the far side of the deckhouse from the Avon, stripped off, and had ourselves sluiced over with buckets of tepid salt water; then, barefooted and in dungarees, we lounged under our own awning, which was a little different from the Avon's. Ours was a jury-rigged bit of rotted fores'l, and instead of tea things we had a half cooled tar bucket, and a line of washed-out clothes hung up by our China-boy.

It must have been just as hot aboard the Avon, but somehow there I had not noticed the heat, in spite of the necessity of wearing clothes. Now as I lounged barefooted on the Linkang, the sweat began running down my ribs before I was dry of salt water. My uncle paced and fretted; he did not seem to perspire, but instead seemed simply to smoke.

"At first," I suggested, "I thought the yawl was sent here to spy on us."

"Spy on us!" my uncle snorted. "Who'd ever send that outfit any place to accomplish anything?"

He made the idea seem much sillier than it really was. Granting it unlikely that a vessel with a girl aboard should be sent into these islands to spy upon a gunrunner, the thing was nevertheless possible. The British can sometimes be unbelievably unwieldly about any such peformance, mystifying their competitors by the sheer cumbersomeness of their devices. And the Avon was one vessel which was supposed to be accounted for at this moment in an entirely different part of the globe.

"It's a funny thing they layto just a day ahead of us," I argued. "With a thousand islands to choose from, they have to come and spoil our plans here. There has to be a reason."

NOW PLAYING

PRINCESS —Walter Winchell, Ben Bernie and Simone Simon in "Love and Hisses" with Joan David and Bert Lahr.

New Idea Musical Has An All-Star Cast and Ummph"

Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie, those famous feudists who put puns into their punches, are back for the greatest return match in history in "Love and Hisses," coming today to the Princess theatre. This time the reason for all the barbed wit is the fight over their new sweethot from Paris, hte saucy and vivacious Simone Simon, who sings operatic arias and popular ballads for the greatest surprise of the year.

This new-idea musical show from hit-making Twentieth Century-Fox features a great laugh-a-second cast, including Bert Lahr, Joan Davis, Dick Baldwin, Ruth Terry, Douglas Fowley and Chick Chandler.

Brand new hot-and-hissing songs by Gordon and Revel head the musical score, with additional hit parade leaders by Pollack and Mitchell, Raymond Scott, and Zeno and Irwin.

Darryl F. Zanuck, maker of the screen's biggest hit shows, was in charge of production and Sidney Lanfield directed. Lanfield also made "Sing, Baby, Sing," "Thin Ice," "One In A Million," and "Wake Up And Live."

The result is laughs and kisses, music and misses, and a show that's got ummph! the new 1938 requirement of musical comedies.

The punning funsters of "Wake Up And Live" get all excited over the talents of a cute little number fresh from Paris, played by Simone. Bernie, the "old maestro," discovers her first, and asks Winchell to help put her over by a "plug" in his column. Because she is Bernie's protege Winchell refuses even to listen to Simone, so the band leader concocts a plot.

The conspiracy works and Winchell's enthusiasm, syndicated in hundreds of newspapers, brings fame to the little French songstress. Winchell doesn't know that she is Bernie's singer until shortly before the "maestro's" new club is to open when Simone reveals her identity and exposes the plot of the columnist.

Winchell thereupon swears revenge on his favorite enemy and the laugh-filled climax presents the most hilarious idea in vengeance since happy endings were invented.

Woven into the continuity are bright musical spots featuring specialty numbers by the Peters Sisters, Chilton and Thomas and the Brewster Twins.

A Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

This is the second of two articles in which Preston Grover, Washington Colmnist for the Telegram, examines British labor legislation and policy with an eye on American labor problems.

Washington—Two digests of the British trade disputes act are being circulated in Washington. One comes from the department of labor, which might reasonably be expected to reflect a labor viewpoint. The other comes from the National Association of Manufacturers, which might reasonably be expected to reflect the employers' viewoint.

In light of the President's suggestion that it would be worth while to study the act, it may be helpful to know the reaction of these two agencies. The labor department, sympathetic to labor, is openly critical of most phases of the act. The manufacturers' association, on the other hand, discloses in its digest a friendly attitude, guarded and reserved friendliness, but nevertheless, friendliness.

Two Approaches

The two agencies approach the proposition wholly from the economic standpoint, which in itself is an attitude which seems to distinguish the American discussion of labor-management cooperation from that of the British. British labor, as the Encyclopedia of Social Sciences and other sources say, has approached the labor problem as that of a social class striving for political power. On the other hand, the American practice and discussion of the problem has avoided social theory for the most part and instead has emphasized labor's local interests, stressing particularly the purely business aspects of cooperation.

A political approach to the problem carries with it necessarily the idea of giving the government a larger hand in bringing about labor-employer cooperation. And from that you can go back to the social science encyclopedia for the assertion that when the government steps into labor disputes, the employer benefits most—since the government is interested mainly in preserving the status quo, "which labor strives to upset more frequently than capital."

As part of an attitude of peace at almost any price, the British have established many precedents of non-compulsory conciliation and arbitration of labor disputes—interrupted by such events as the general strike of 1926. That machinery is designed to replace strikes. It doesn't altogether; London busmen struck and messed up the recent coronation. But public and official pressure is for peace.

Employer Also Responsible

Quite apart from any class angle is the provision in the British act making labor unions and workers responsible for illegal acts. Among "illegal acts" are such things as "sympathy strikes." Unions may be sued for damages, their legal responsibility under the British system being quite a distance beyond that of American unions, except perhaps under the laws of some states which make unions legally responsible.

One phase of the British act that may interest many employers is that it subjects them (the employers) to rigors of the law in the same terms as unions. A "sympathy" lockout or a lockout intended to influence government action would be just as illegal and punishable as a sympathy strike or a strike intended to influence the government.

New York, Feb. 1 (AP) — For the second time there's to be a broadcast from a coal mine fire that has been burning since 1884 — 54 years. It's at New Straitsville, Ohio.

Tom Manning NBC announcer, and two radio engineers, Eddie Leonard and Alvin McMann, will handle the broadcast, which, according to the plans, will come from the mine as close to the fire as the men can get. The description will be included in Bob Ripley's program on WEAF-NBC Saturday night. So will crackling of the flames.

The first broadcast of the burning mine was made by NBC several months ago.

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Quiet but persistent buying reappeared in today's stock market and leaders were lifted fractions to 2 points generally. There were one or two up 6 or so at the best.

Profit realizing flurries were frequent, with in-and-out traders who got aboard at last week's lows inclined to cash in on the two-day rally.

Transfers were around 700,000 shares.

SMALL BUSINESS MEN TO CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

the auto union: Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president, and William Munger, research director; came here to give the president their ideas on how to regularize employment in auto plants and assure a larger annual income for the workers.

Mr. Roosevlt has criticized overselling and too liberal credit terms as contributing to irregular production and unemployment in the auto industry. He discussed these problems with auto manufacturers earlier in his series of conferences on the business situation.

The meeting with small business men is the last in this group which has been announced. Besides the need for new capital, they are expected to consider:

Fair trade practices, prices and monopolies; social security, government research, wages and hours, housing, installment selling, and development and location of small industries.

"Strange as it may seem," Draper said, "most of the letters say they favor wage and hour legislation, although some people say such legislation would hurt small business men."

To assist in the discussion of the loan questions, the Commerce Department asked Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to be present.

The RFC has loaned about $180,000,000 to industry in the three years it has had such authority. The 12 Federal Reserve banks added $150,000,000 more.

Those skeptical of the idea of new government loans to small businesses point to the relative smallness of these previous loans as supporting their thesis that the businessmen who can not get financing are merely poor risks.

Others reply that what business needs is long term securities financing, not temporary federal aid.

Long-term obligations generally are outside the field of commercial bank lending. They belong to the "investment banking" field.

Securities of large corporations, experts pointed out, usually can be disposed of by investors through the New York Stock Exchange or similar machinery, but in the case of small companies the market is limited.

Some government and private financial experts have suggested establishment of a special type of bank to loan long term money to small business—possibly with the government supplying part or all of the bank's capital.

and awards for Second class and Tenderfoot ranks.

Thursday's program will be given over to a special convocation at the high school. This program will be presented by the Scouts of the city and all troops will take part in the demonstration work.

A Scout "Fun Night" is planned Friday evening at the Graham Annex gymnasium when Scouts will take part in competitive contests.

Scout Demonstration Day is included Saturday in the downtown district. Various phases of Scout work will be exhibited in a local store window so that the public may better understand the type of activity stressed in the Scouting program. At three o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening, demonstrations of first aid, signaling, knot tying, and flag etiquette will be made.

The following chairmen and committees were appointed for the local observance: general chairmen, Eugene Miller; Scout Sunday, Dr. J. T. Scull: chili supper, Robert Hinshaw; Administration Day, Luther Lockwood, Mayor Dan Long, and Judge William F. Marshall; Court of Honor, Rev. Gibson Wilson and Rev. John Heslip; Convocation program, C. J. Sellars; "Fun Night", Robert V. Barnett and Homer Gehrett; window exhibit, Joe Pike; flag exhibit, Chester Dearinger; Rotary program, Louis Mauzy; Kiwanis program, Everett Light.

A Trying Event.

Muncie Ind. (AP)—The patience of a Muncie filling station operator was given a severe test. A motorist borrowed a gasoline can from him and then went to a rival station across the street to have it filled.

The item of "other real estate" should not exceed 10% of Capital, and items headed "miscellaneous," "other assets" or "other cash items" should hardly appear to any extent.

The ratio of time deposits to total deposits should not be more than 35%, nor should the bank be paying more than the prevailing rate of interest on time deposits.

Earning assets should constitute at least 60% of the total assets, if the bank is to prosper, and a bank that does not operate at a profit is a peril in a community.

The items "Loans and Discounts" and "Bonds, Securities, Etc." as to soundness must depend on the conservatism, judgment and integrity of the management to a large extent, supported by supervisory rules and approved by examiners.

Banks are rated by the following standards: Adequacy of Free Capital Structure. Adequacy of Liquid Assets Unpledged. Financial History and Record of Management. Their Future Earnings Prospect. Character of the Management. And the Convenience and Needs of the Community Served.
